Must-Visit Temples and Shrines

- Kiyomizu-dera
- Fushimi Inari-taisha
- Kinkaku-ji (Golden Pavilion)
- Gion

Kiyomizu-dera

Nestled amidst the verdant hills of eastern Kyoto, Kiyomizu-dera is a UNESCO World Heritage Site renowned for its stunning wooden architecture and panoramic views of the city. The temple's main building, perched atop massive wooden pillars, offers a breathtaking perspective of the surrounding forest. Visitors can also stroll through the temple's tranquil gardens and witness the sacred Otowa Waterfall, said to bring good fortune.

Fushimi Inari-taisha

Dedicated to the god of rice, Fushimi Inari-taisha is a sprawling temple complex located on the slopes of Mount Inari. The temple is famous for its thousands of vermilion torii gates, which form a winding path leading up the mountain. Visitors can hike through the colorful gates, enjoying the serene atmosphere and breathtaking views of Kyoto.

Kinkaku-ji (Golden Pavilion)

Kinkaku-ji, known as the Golden Pavilion, is a stunning Zen temple located in the northern part of Kyoto. The temple's top two stories are covered in gold leaf, reflecting the sunlight and creating a magnificent sight. Visitors can admire the pavilion from the surrounding gardens, enjoying the tranquil atmosphere and the reflection of the temple in the Mirror Pond.

Gion

Gion is Kyoto's famous geisha district, known for its traditional teahouses, exclusive restaurants, and elegant atmosphere. Visitors can stroll along the narrow streets, admiring the preserved wooden buildings and catching a glimpse of geishas in their vibrant kimonos. At night, Gion transforms into a magical place, with lanterns illuminating the streets and creating a charming ambiance.
