This extensive volume encompasses 1,024 pages of timeless piano compositions, offering a comprehensive overview of the piano literature from the Baroque era to the Romantic period. Within its pages reside treasured works by legendary composers such as Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, Chopin, and Brahms.

A Journey Through the Baroque Period

The Schirmer Library of Classics Volume 500 opens with a captivating selection of Baroque masterpieces. Among them are Handel's elegant

"Suite No. 5 in E Major," adorned with intricate ornaments and spirited dance rhythms.

D. Scarlatti's "Sonata in D Minor, K. 141" showcases his virtuoso technique with its rapid passages and expressive melodies, while Rameau's "Gavotte and Variations" exudes the refined elegance of the French court.

The Flourishing of the Classical Era

As we delve deeper into the volume, we encounter the transformative works of the Classical era. Haydn's "Sonata No. 30 in D Major" captivates with its playful melodies and sophisticated harmonies, while Mozart's "Rondo alla Turca" from his "Sonata No. 11 in A Major" delights with its infectious Turkish rhythms.
